City of Westminster OB production link facilities upgrade for ITN

ATG Danmon is one of the world's most successful providers of high-end reliable and easy-to-operate integrated systems for broadcasters and programme makers.

Active in Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East, ATG Danmon is part of the Dan Technologies Group which operates from offices in the United Kingdom, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Vietnam.

ATG Danmon has completed a project to upgrade outside broadcast link facilities in the City of Westminster, Central London, for Independent Television News, one of Europe's leading television news providers.

The project centred on new facility and electrical cabinets at Abingdon Green adjacent to the UK Houses of Parliament and in Downing Street.

Abingdon Green is used by TV and radio reporters as a location for interviews with politicians.

The Downing Street portal is frequently used by commentators and mobile production crews covering activity outside the residences of the UK Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"Our role was to remove the existing boxes and install new weatherproof cabinets, replacing all cabling and power distribution at each location," says ATG Danmon Managing Director

Russell Peirson-Hagger. "These facilities are used for many Westminster-related broadcasts, both live and recorded, in addition to similar facilities at various other key London locations. They also form part of the wide range of services offered by ITN to other broadcast and corporate clients."

"We provided custom panels for video, multi-channel analogue audio, IP and fibre connectivity. We also upgraded the power distribution to allow remote monitoring."

"Everything is housed in highly robust and fully weatherproof steel cases with access panels for external cables."

"The project is the latest of several commissions we have completed for this client."

"We were chosen in part for our proven capabilities and because we already had the experience of working at the Palace of Westminster."
